South Carolina must have heaved a sigh of relief when Cole Blaise clipped off five days from the end of his administration by resignation. South Carolina is likely to be more careful another time.

The half was not told of the Italian earthquake at the outset; nor yet a fraction of the terrible story. It was one of the few disasters that did not result in diminution of the terrible features in the retelling.

Austria's feeling of instability is reflected in the rush of the moneyed people there to place their wealth in American securities. The United States and its prosperity look to Europeans at present to be founded on the solid rock foundation.

During the present week the Daughters of the American Revolution, the Colonial Dames and the Daughters of 1812 have been holding their annual sessions in Montpelier. It is about time to start the Daughters of '61, followed by the Dames of '98, and then, we suppose, the Daughters of 1914 in memory of Vera Cruz.

Former Chief Justice John W. Rowell's retort to former Governor Fletcher ament the judiciary matter was couched in courteous terms but it nevertheless left not the least doubt of the writer's earnestness and positiveness. Indeed, it was so smoothly, yet so effectively, done that it might serve as a splendid example to those who are prone to indulge in perverid language with the idea in mind that such language carries conviction.

If Burlington and Rutland get to competing too strenuously for the 1916 convention of the Vermont State Dairywomen's association, Barre, with its largely increased hotel accommodations, stands ready to be the compromise candidate for the distinction. Indeed, Barre might well put in a bid to become the meeting place of the convention next year without regard to any squabble between Rutland and Burlington.

So Quincy's granite business is doomed, is it, unless those huge grout piles are removed? The only solution seems to be more road building and the use of Quincy's grout piles as material. The partially crushed rock makes a good underpinning and the powdered granite makes a fairly acceptable top dressing when treated with an oil "binder." Next comes the problem of transporting the grout from Quincy to the places where the roads are to be built. And that is quite a problem, we admit.

Probably no place in Vermont came near the house building record of Rutland during the past calendar year with 61 new houses constructed and a dozen remodelled from barns, to say nothing of additions made to a dozen or more. Such a building record must indicate a growth in population; if there was little or no growth there would be no demand for increased accommodations in such impressive figures. It is pleasing to all Vermont to note such evidences of progress in communities of the state.

The Vermont House of Representatives is to be commended for remaining in Montpelier for a Saturday morning session. If every Saturday morning for the next few weeks should be utilized in the same manner the work of the normal session would be expedited to such an extent that an early adjournment might be expected. And if a short session should prove to be practicable and reasonable, that is, the business cleaned up in a fairly complete manner, the legislators as well as the entire people of the state would feel the better for it. Moreover, it would leave a fine impression as regards the general assembly of 1915.

The names of Thomas W. Moloney of Rutland, Charles D. Watson of St. Albans and Seneca Haselton of Burlington have been mentioned in connection with the appointment of a successor to the late James I. Martin, United States district court judge for Vermont. Each of them fills the requirement of being a member of the party at present in control at Washington, Haselton in particular because of his service on the Vermont supreme court bench. It is possible, however, that Haselton would welcome a reinstatement on the supreme bench rather than an appointment to the district court judge's position, such reinstatement serving as a vindication of his record with Vermont's highest tribunal. Events at the state capital during the next few days will, doubtless, determine to a great extent the turn in the appointment of district court judge for Vermont. Meanwhile the public waits with marked degree of interest.

A CHANCE TO HELP VERMONT.
Middlebury college students have adopted the "Made in Vermont" slogan and have let the contract for their new Wood memorial chapel to a Vermont man. In fact, most of the large public buildings being erected in Vermont, or those now in process, are the work of contractors who have their residence and their business in Vermont. Moreover, in the case of the Middlebury college contract the exterior material is to be dug from Vermont quarries.

A more becoming suit than this patch pocket norfolk for boys it would be hard to imagine. Prices, $3 to $10. And for overcoats isn't this belted back garment about as neat as anything a boy can wear? Prices, $5 to $15. Other styles in large variety for boys from three years up.

It is no narrow provincialism to desire to limit as much as possible our business activities to the confines of our own state, especially in those cases where good service and excellent materials are assured; nor it is a manifestation of selfishness. It is, on the contrary, the evidence of loyalty to home interests that is greatly to be commended and that ought to be encouraged as much as possible. The business interests of Vermont can be advanced in large measure if adherence to this policy is maintained in a large number of lines, not the least of which is in the mercantile business.

Altogether too much Vermont money goes out of the state in trading with mail order houses—money which never comes back to the state and which, therefore, goes to swell the resources of some other far distant state to our own decided loss. It is due to Vermont merchants who pay taxes in Vermont cities and towns and who assist in all the good works of building up Vermont and her cities and towns that this money be spent in their stores. Furthermore, those who are accustomed to trading with far distant concerns should bear in mind that trading at home helps themselves indirectly in lifting the burden of support of government at home by increasing the grand list of the state. Therefore, the letting of the Middlebury college contract to a Vermont concern with the stipulation that Vermont marble be used should find its counterpart in most of the other activities of the state.

TALK OF THE TOWN

Friends in this city of Rev. and Mrs. E. O. Thayer, former residents of Barre, who moved to California some years ago, will be interested to learn that they have changed their address, which is now 1127 W. 34th street, Los Angeles. In a letter to The Times, Mrs. Thayer incloses a clipping from the Los Angeles Express of Dec. 27, which gives a list of the coldest places in the United States on the previous day. Barre, v.t., according to The Express list, leads the list with a reading of minus 52. The minimum temperature in Los Angeles that day was 50 above zero at 5 o'clock in the morning.

Unless his literary is altered at the last moment, Alderman John F. Cook of the second ward will be back in his chair around the oak table at city hall when the council comes to order next Tuesday evening. Messages received here to-day state that Alderman Cook and Mrs. Cook and their little daughter have left Bradentown, Fla., and will arrive in the city Monday morning. Alderman Cook went to Florida late in the fall after his physician had prescribed a warmer and more congenial climate for an aggravated throat affection. He was joined sometime later in the autumn by Mrs. Cook and daughter. According to letters received here by the alderman's friends, the change in climate has proved wholly beneficial and he will return to Vermont much improved in health.

Daughters of 1812 at Montpelier.
Following the business meeting of the officers in the forenoon and the mid-year meeting in the afternoon, the Daughters of 1812 met at the Kellogg-Hulbard library in Montpelier yesterday to attend an informal reception given by Mrs. F. H. Binnett, regent of the local chapter.

The afternoon program included the address of welcome by Mrs. Binnett, regent of the local chapter, and the response by Mrs. C. W. Howard of Shrewsbury. Mrs. Arthur H. H. of Burlington gave the president's address which was followed by greeting from Mrs. George H. Smith of this city in behalf of the Colonial Dames of Vermont, and from Mrs. William T. Dewey for the local chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

The principal address of the day was by Capt. Ira L. Brown. The mid-year meeting of the Daughters of 1812 ends the three days' meeting of the three principal women's patriotic societies in the state.

Constant Progress!

Our constantly widening circle of acquaintances and our substantial growth in deposits during the past year are indications of sound progress; and to our friends and patrons, to whom our success is largely due, we would express some measure of our appreciation.

That we may still further serve the business interests of Barre and vicinity will be our constant endeavor.

UPPER CLASS GIRLS WON.

Defeated Spaulding's Lower Class Girls, 4 to 1, at Basketball.

At the Church street gymnasium yesterday afternoon the girls' basketball teams of the two upper classes of Spaulding defeated the two lower classes by a score of 4 to 1. The audience, which numbered near to 100, failed to find the excitement that usually comes with basketball, but as the score was a tie at the end of the first period considerable interest was maintained until Miss Bugbee dropped in a foul, which was quickly followed by a basket by Miss Connor. Miss Connor had the honor of making the only basket from the floor by either team during the whole game.

The game was closely played, each guard on both teams keeping her opponent covered. The work of Miss Hooker at center was very good and at times the passing between her and her teammates made matters more interesting. The cleverness of Miss Rogers, the lower classes' left forward, at getting away and shooting was very noticeable. Miss Langley, Miss Sowden and Miss Averill showed good form in guarding. The lack of the number of baskets seems to be a lack of practice as, many times, shots were missed. The following is the line-up: Higher classes Miss Connor rf, Miss Bugbee lf, Miss Hooker c, Miss Skinner and Miss Sowden rg, Miss Langley lg; lower classes, Miss Wallstrom lg, Miss Averill rg, Miss Olsen lg, Miss Cordner c, Miss Gove lf, Miss Rogers rf. Referee, Mrs. Wisbart. Scorer, Loranger. Time, two 15-minute periods. Timer, Tobin. Umpire, Miss Reed.

MONTPELIER HIGH DEFEATED.

Burlington High Scored 27 to LLosers' 14 Points.

At the Montpelier armory last evening Burlington high school defeated Montpelier high at basketball, 27 to 14. Buxton of Burlington was high scorer with nine baskets.

The line-up and summary: Montpelier. Buxton, I. H. f. g. Smith, H. Rupert, r. f. l. g. Mack Bregstein, c. Hancock Bell, l. g. f. f. Gross R. Rupert, r. f. f. f. Gross Baskets from the floor, Buxton 9, Gross 4, Hancock 2, Shepard 2, H. Rupert, R. Rupert, Bregstein, Fouls, Buxton 3, Hancock 2. Referee, Cullen. Umpire Holcomb.

People's Academy Overwhelmed.

Stowe, Jan. 16.—Stowe high school defeated People's academy of Morrisville last evening by a score of 36 to 17. The game was played in the town hall. McMahon of Stowe received a bad injury, but pluckily played through the game. The referee was R. W. Eaton; umpire, R. R. McMahon; timekeeper, Boardman; scorer, Morton; time, two 20-minute periods.

matter, was referred to the committee on public health.

Mr. Caswell of Derby moved that adjournment be taken until Monday at 2 o'clock, but was opposed by Mr. Foster of Calais and Mr. Morse of Hardwick, the former saying that he had come to Montpelier with his grip packed for 60 days and that he meant to stay in the capital until the session closed unless some calamity called him home. Mr. Morse backed him up and Mr. Caswell withdrew his motion to take the week-end adjournment.

Senate Gets Woman Suffrage Bill.
One of the numerous bills on woman suffrage made its appearance in the Senate yesterday afternoon when Senator Campbell of Windsor county presented a bill giving women the right to vote in town and municipal meetings, to have the same right as men to hold town and municipal offices; also women over 21 shall have the right to vote for presidential electors. The Senate passed two of its bills, one relating to further notice to libel in divorce actions and the other relating to commitment of commission or deceased person's estate; referred two House bills relating to loitering in railroad stations and relating to tramps; and ordered to a third reading the joint resolution relating to printing 600 copies of the commission of revision report as per act of 1912; then adjourned for the week-end.

LEGISLATIVE NOTES.

The Addison county delegation, by a vote of 17, seven not voting, agreed to support in every way possible a 90-day session, with compensation of $4 a day while in actual session.

MONTPELIER.

Supreme Court Takes Recess to Next Friday.

Supreme court took a recess yesterday until Friday morning when several state cases are slated for a hearing. It was explained that the recess was taken because there are several cases to be considered next week. No cases were heard yesterday.

In county court the following cases have been entered: State vs. Clarence E. Foley, appellant, breach of the peace; Fred L. Dodson for the benefit of Ida M. Fox, assignee of mortgage vs. Union Mutual Fire Insurance company; Mrs. Fred S. Dodson vs. Vermont Mutual Fire Insurance company, assumpsit.

In probate court yesterday the will of Charles Murray Clark, late of Plainfield, was proven, and the widow, Mrs. Clara L. Clark, was named as executrix. A license was granted to sell real estate in the estate of George W. Morse, late of Waterbury.

When Chief Sinclair hands in his report of police department doings in 1914 there will be noted an unusually large number of entries for automobile offenses. During the year no fewer than 20 arrests were made for alleged violation of the automobile laws. In this category appear autoists who were charged with operating cars without licenses; others who, it was alleged, drove their cars without lights in the nighttime; and a very few who were arraigned for careless driving. None of the charges preferred in cases of this kind specified any allegation of speeding. The recently announced decision of the authorities to make arrests whenever cars were found to be running under 1914 licenses has had the desired effect on most motorists.

Wilbur Wilson, a Marshfield farmhand, paid his perennial visit to Barre to-day and was locking arms with an officer before the town was hardly awake. Policeman Harry Gamble, on his way to work from the south end this morning at 7 o'clock, saw Wilson essaying some fancy strokes on the ice not far from the covered bridge. According to the officer Wilson had only one skate on as he glided over the ice. The man was taken to police headquarters and given a berth for the day. He will be arraigned before Judge H. W. Scott on an intoxication charge this evening. Wilson, it may be recalled, is the man who assumed the role of Farmer Corntassel last Fourth of July and was presently the target for an angry swarm of boys. He was arrested because of his alleged connection with the stabbing of a Tomasi boy. Afterward he was released under bonds and told to appear at the court's order. He was never asked to appear.
